THE FOUNDER

Stefan Brandt studied physics in Göttingen and earned his PhD at the Max Planck Institute in Stuttgart at the Faculty of Chemistry in the field of materials science. His great passion for fashion and the finest natural fibers brought him to South America. Since then, he has been perfecting jersey collections and pushing the envelope by inventing groundbreaking processes.

Stefan Brandt's maxim is to produce the perfect product, regardless of cost, and to guarantee wear and care properties of a quality unrivaled to all competition in the market.

In the quest for the utmost control over quality, Stefan Brandt made the bold decision in 2022 to grow his own luxury cotton in Ecuador.

What makes Stefan Brandt so special?

Stefan Brandt
WORLD'S FINEST JERSEY

UNIQUE MATERIAL

In 2015, Stefan Brandt set a new milestone with the revolutionary "15-step pre-fit treatment". This disruptive technology was a gateway to unlock the "South American silk" characteristics inherent in this superfine cotton.

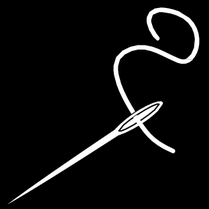

The result is a universally unique and luxurious cotton jersey, which gives its products tangible and measurable unique selling points, including ultimate natural elasticity and shape retention, as well as a luxurious look and feel, similar to that of silk-cashmere.

In addition, it has unique care properties, such as tumble drying and color fastness at 60°C/140°F. The product is also suitable for allergy sufferers.

IMMACULATE TAILORING

Stefan Brandt's homage to precision craftsmanship, is reflected in the use of elaborate hand-stitch techniques, some of which represent innovations in the jersey sector. Previously only known from made-to-measure clothing, the fabric layers are hand-stitched together before being sewn. A novelty and at the same time a guarantee for precise fits and a perfect drape of the garment.

Numerous sartorial elements, which are usually realized with automatic machines, are sewn by hand with dedication and exquisite attention to detail at Stefan Brandt.

These time-consuming steps are the prerequisite for precision and a proof of immaculate craftsmanship true Stefan Brandt’s maxim “there is no shortcut to excellence.”

In 2026, selected premium stores worldwide will be included in the distribution. This underlines the uniqueness of the products and the enormous growth potential worldwide.
